SWITCHFOOT

SWITCHFOOT is an American alternative rock group consisting of members Jon Foreman, Tim Foreman, Chad Butler, Jerome Fontamillas, and Drew Shirley. The group originated in San Diego, California and found success early on in the Christian rock genre. In 2002, four of the group's hits, including "Dare You to Move" and "Only Hope", were featured in the movie, "A Walk to Remember". This propelled them even further into stardom. Since then, SWITCHFOOT have continually toured their spirited live act around the globe. They have been nominated for and have won numerous awards, including a Grammy Award for Best Rock or Rap Album for their album "Hello Hurricane". After their 2017-2018 hiatus, the group is back, better than ever, and ready to get back on the road with material from their newest album "Native Tongue".
